

Australian
National University

Scales of Memory: Violence, (In)justice and Dynamics of Remembrance

Featured Speakers

- Ann Rigney
Utrecht University
- Barbara Törnquist-Plewa
Lund University , Sweden
- Susannah Radstone
Uni of South Australia
- Michael Rothberg (via Skype)
University of Illinois

All Welcome!
Registration Required

Wednesday 10th to Friday 12th December 2014
Sir Roland Wilson Theatre, Bldg (#120)

Research School of Humanities & the Arts
College of Arts and Social Sciences
Network in Transnational Memory Studies
(<http://www.utrechtmemorystudies.nl/nitmes>)

The title 'scales of memory' alludes to the idea of 'scales of justice', and the discourses of justice and human rights in shaping collective memory in local, national and transnational contexts. It also invokes issues of 'scalarity' – that is, relations between the scales on which events are remembered – from the personal to the national, global and planetary. The conference is particularly interested in how violence and injustice are remembered and mediated both in aesthetic forms (film, literature, photography) and through juridical and quasi-judicial institutions and forms (NGOs, transitional justice mechanisms and apologies).

Please RSVP by Thursday, 4th December 2014 for catering purposes
RSVP to jonathon.zapasnik@anu.edu.au

For further information please contact Rosanne Kennedy
Rosanne.Kennedy@anu.edu.au